

Agreement

[] (hereinafter referred to as “the Entity”), hereby request a copy of the Evaluation Model checkpoints (hereinafter referred to as “the SML model”) trained by the Beijing Institute of Technology Direct Lab for commercial use or public deployment. The SML model is a (reasoning-augmented) conversational language model. In exchange for the model access, the Entity fully understands and agrees to the following terms and conditions:

1. The Beijing Institute of Technology Direct Lab makes no representations or warranties regarding the SML model, including but not limited to non-infringement, compliance with generated content, or fitness for specific purposes.
2. Under no circumstances shall the Beijing Institute of Technology Direct Lab be liable for any incidents or damages caused by the direct or indirect use of the SML model by the Entity and its affiliated Institutes.
3. The Entity shall defend and indemnify the Beijing Institute of Technology Direct Lab (including its members) against any claims arising from the use of the SML model by the Entity.
4. With the permission of the Entity, its employees can have access to the SML model, provided that they also agree to be bound by the terms and conditions set forth in this agreement.
5. The Entity shall provide proper citations when publishing research results based on the SML model.
6. Both the e-signature and wet signature of this agreement have the same legal effect.
7. The Beijing Institute of Technology Direct Lab reserves the right to terminate the use of the SML model by the Entity at any time.
